Narrative designer and interactive fiction writer who built Mythmaker, an original branching-story platform with its own engine and authoring tool. Writes character-driven stories where player choices carry real, visible consequences.

NARRATIVE DESIGN PROJECTS

Mythmaker | Creator, Lead Writer & Narrative Designer | 2025–Present

- Built an original interactive fiction engine and authoring tool; stories are authored in a custom JSON scene-graph format where choices can be shown, hidden, or rerouted, and scene text changes based on past decisions. Runs in the browser on desktop and mobile.
- Designed Echoes, a meta-progression system where each ending earns a permanent Echo tagged with Traits shared across every story in the library.
- Wrote three stories with 179 scenes and 25 endings, playable now in the portfolio with no account:
  - Before the King (fantasy drama, 12 endings): a throne-room hearing where early choices and overheard clues become leverage later.
  - First Date (slice of life, 8 endings): subtext-heavy dialogue driven by a hidden interest score tracked across 26 choices.
  - Never Have I Ever (ensemble comedy, 5 endings): four distinct character voices and an in-story journal that updates based on what the player admits.

OTHER WRITING

- Save Me Again (feature screenplay): time-loop drama; currently in revision.
- Dear Children of God (TV pilot and series bible): supernatural faith thriller.
